REVIVAL IN MINING SEEMS A CERTAINTY

Nevada soon the eye of a great mining revival according to those who are in a position to know. The signs of the world are divided this way and the pulse strings of capital will be loosened within the next few months in a way that will prove a revelation to those who have pinned their faith to the mineral resources of this state. The days of wilderness seem to be practically at an end, and the investors, backed as a whole, will proceed with the equipment of our mines as they do in other countries. The possibilities and possibilities are being recognized as individual efforts of a nation's development and its resources.

Meritorious mining companies are looking for the stock exchange of the east and west are moving and considering and southern Nevada seems to be the point of view. The wonderful mineral resources that have been made of late weeks in the Tonopah district has been a revelation. The strong local issues and the fact that there have been a number of strikes that have been a revelation. The Tonopah district is showing popularity in many ways while local issues are being developed and the fact that are being developed daily on the scene of the strike camps bring back memories of bygone days. It begins to look like Goldfield was going to stage a real comeback. Large funds are now available for the carrying to a successful issue the campaigns of development that have been outlined. The sinking of the Deep Mine shaft will prove beyond question the enrichment of the ore zones at depth and in view of the fact that excellent headways are being made it will not be many months until the results will be known.

EDMONDS BILL HITS NAIL MOST SQUARELY

The bill proposed in congress by Representative Edmonds of Pennsylvania providing deportation for aliens who foment or participate in industrial conflicts has evoked a great variety of comment, favorable and adverse. Some of the objections are remarkably ingenious. A New York paper argues that if instigation of labor unrest is to be ground for deportation we might as well deport all citizens of European origin—in other words, every one but the Indians. It maintains that every nationality in the country has been represented in recent radical outbreaks, and adds, not very coherently, that whether we like it or not, strikes are a thoroughly American institution.

This is a fair example of the sophistry with which the administration has tried to contend in its efforts to find a remedy for the spread of lawlessness in the country, and for unnecessary dislocations in the nation's industry. A roll call of the leaders who have encouraged crime and violence in American labor would sufficiently refute the argument quoted above, even without evidence of solidarity between the E. W. W. in America and radical headquarters in Europe. Edmonds' bill is not a discriminatory measure against the alien as an alien. It provides a means of sifting from among the throngs of foreigners who pour into the country year by year, those who do not come here with the intention of plundering American institutions, turning our democratic liberties into chapters of license. Until immigrants have been naturalized they are a responsibility which the government is under no obligation to undertake. The problems presented by its own citizens are great enough, without welcoming disruptive forces from without, or shouldering the problems of other countries. For the immigrant who believes in American government and who will loyally support the national tradition there will always be a place in America. It is of such stock that the nation has been made. But the alien whose only interest in this country is to exploit it, to misuse the rights guaranteed the common citizen under its constitution, and to find an outlet for criminal impulse, there is no place here and we are under no obligation of providing

The Edmonds bill is a safety valve to relieve superfluous pressure from an overstrained and unstable situation. It is a just provision for the security of American government, and against that fact no outside can prevail.

The Houston Post asserts that the winner of the democratic senatorial primary in Texas is a Wilson democrat and will be found supporting the Wilson policies in the senate. With that information before them, the people of Texas may decide to send someone else to the senate. The voters of Missouri set the pace.

The American farmer has never been on strike when he had no work for nothing, and he is not likely to do so. A political organization dominated by men who go on strike when their incomes are in jeopardy, are more than the farmers on an average, are a legal nuisance.

The Norfolk Va. Pilot remarks that Missouri has decided to re-run the election. On no basis. The primary election was held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. A republican will be sent to the senate.

The people are long-suffering in the case of strikes and always sympathized. But they will not tolerate strikes of the endangering of life or the willful destruction of property.

ANNOUNCEMENT

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA
 Owing to circumstances over which I had no control, and because my duty to my clients will not permit, I find it impossible to canvass the entire state of Nevada in the interest of my candidacy for the nomination on the Republican ticket for Attorney General. I am therefore taking this means of bringing my candidacy to the attention of the people of the state of Nevada.

As many of the people of the state of Nevada know, I was born in this state, and have lived here my entire life, save and except the few years spent by me in California obtaining my collegiate and law education. I have lived in Churchill, Nye, Esmeralda, Washoe, Humboldt and Elko counties and have practiced law in all of those counties during my entire career.

I have held the position of district attorney in Esmeralda County and in Washoe County, and assistant district attorney in Elko County. In 1901 I was elected judge of the Second Judicial District Court of the state of Nevada, which at that time comprised Washoe and Churchill counties.

I was re-elected to that position in 1905 and voluntarily retired at the end of my term in January, 1907.

In 1916, at the request of my friends and the friends of the University of Nevada, I permitted it to be known that I was a candidate for rector of the university.

At the election of 1916 I was elected a rector of the university, and have served the people of the state of Nevada in that capacity without compensation for the last six years, and during the last two years have been chairman of the board of regents.

My practice of the law has been so wide almost as the borders of the state, and has been as varied as the business interests of the state. If I can be said to have any specialties in the law it will be found to be in the state and mining laws of the state.

With reference to my services as a member of the board of regents, I desire to call to the attention of the people of the state of Nevada, the following facts:

That there has not been an increase made in the great budget of the university for a period of six months prior to my incumbency, and that it was practically impossible to add the books of the university, but that within a short time after my incumbency, at the demand of the board of regents, the books of the university were brought up to date and have been kept during all this time I served the university.

That during my entire incumbency as a member of the board of regents, the University of Nevada has been within its budget, and has never gone into the red, and that the budget of the university has been growing out of the contributions of the state, and has been growing out of the contributions of the state, and has been growing out of the contributions of the state.

That immediately upon becoming a member of the board of regents, I caused the standard of scholarship in the university to be raised so as to enable it to be placed upon the approved list of the Association of American Universities, and within two years after my incumbency the university was placed upon the approved list of the Association of American Universities.

This means, among other things of vital importance, that the university has been recognized throughout the entire educational world as an institution of first class educational advantages, and that any boy or girl attending the University of Nevada for any semester and receiving an appropriate credit for the work done, will receive the same credit in any and all of the leading colleges of America, and will be able to transfer to such college or take therein a post graduate course.

That there has been inaugurated and adopted by the board of regents a policy by which the additional buildings hereafter to be constructed upon the campus of the state of Nevada alone, approximately 50 per cent of the initial cost of each building.

That there has been adopted by the board of regents a limitation policy, which provides that no building in any way the right of attendance at the university of any bona fide resident of the state of Nevada, but which will and does prevent our sister states from flooding the university with an unreasonable number of students to be educated at the expense of the state of Nevada.

That the board of regents obtained the enactment of a law compelling them to compel these students, coming to the university from outside the state, to contribute toward the expenses of running the university.

That despite the fact that all supplies, material, equipment, fuel, etc., used by the university have increased in price since my incumbency as a member of the board from 50 per cent to 150 per cent, and that the salaries of the professors and employees of the university have been materially increased to meet the high cost of living, and to accommodate the enlarged registration, which registration has practically doubled since I went upon the board, the University of Nevada is now of approximately $25 per student, per year, over any other college in the history of the university for the last fifteen or twenty years.

Considering that there are 125 students now attending the university, that saving in dollars and cents to the taxpayers of the state of Nevada amounts to approximately $27,500 per year.

If nominated and elected attorney general of the state of Nevada, I promise the people of the state that no state money will be paid out to the officers of the state, or any appointee or department of the state other than what is paid to the attorney general's office.

That as a member of the board of regents, I will scrutinize every claim that comes before the board and oppose both as a member of the board in law and justice.

Upon my record as a citizen and public officer of the state of Nevada, I respectfully submit my candidacy.
